Impeachment bid killed

'GMA allies played blind, deaf and mute'

By Gil C. Cabacungan Jr. and Luis B. Salaverria

PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-Arroyo has eluded yet again another attempt to unseat her, thanks to what opposition said were allies who played "blind, deaf and mute."

After only three days of hearings, the House committee on Justice voted 42-5 to declare the fourth impeachment complaint in three years against Ms. Arroyo inadmissible in substance.

The committee decision will be taken up on the floor on Tuesday by the entire House membership dominated by Ms. Arroyo's allies that is anticipated to affirm the ruling.

Bayan Muna Rep. Teodoro Gueño explained that lack of evidence was not the reason for the complaint's rejection as asserted by the majority.

"We presented a lot of facts, the problem is the majority are just playing blind (for refusing to read the charges), deaf (for refusing to listen to the minority's arguments) and mute (for refusing to engage in a debate but the proceedings take longer) to our complaints," Gueño said.

He pointed out that at the committee level of the impeachment process, MACAPAGAL OFFICIALS CELEBRATED with a "boodle fight" the last triumph in the impeachment battle in Congress.

Opponents of President Macapagal-Arroyo licked their wounds and vowed to try again. The head of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) lamented that Ms. Arroyo's allies have again "blacked the marks."

"It is a welcome development,"

Executive Secretary Eduardo Ermita said after the House justice committee voted to junk the fourth impeachment complaint against Ms. Arroyo since 2005.

As news about the dismissal of the bill, Cabinet officials led by Ermita heartily engaged reporters in a "boodle fight"—a military style of eating with bare hands food placed on a long table covered with banana leaves—at the New Executive Building.

Ermita, along with Presidential Management Staff chief Gerga Remonde, Secretary to the Cabinet Salvador Bello III and deputy presidential spokesperson Anthony Gema, and the important feast on roasted chicken, deep-fried fish fillets, omelette and eggplant salad.

"Let's partly people rather than encourage talk on People Power," said Ermita, a former general.

MINUTES BEFORE THE REVEALING grand case was killed, Rolando Rep. Teodoro Guigones III asked the members of the House committee on justice if they wanted President Macapagal-Arroyo to be President for life.

Guigones claimed that the dismissal of the impeachment case was just the first step in the administration's grand plan for Cha-cha change, which "take more good," he said, was to perpetrate the President in power.

"Let us not be lulled around the bush. We all know that Gloria Arroyo has a group of allies in Malacañan plotting a declaration of martial law," Guigones

Unioil cuts gas price by P6/liter, diesel by P4/liter; Big 3 mum

By Romel W. Domingos and Inquirer Southern Luzon

UNIOIL PETROLEUM PHILIPPINES Inc. yesterday slashed prices of gasoline by P6 a liter and of diesel by P4 a liter as it reacted to other oil firms' previous rounds of price cuts.

Unioil said that as of 2 p.m. yesterday, its suggested retail price for diesel went P34.57 per liter, unleaded gasoline, P38.46; and premium gasoline, P38.08.

The Big 3 (Petron, Shell and Chevron) and other oil firms that have moved pump rates in sync in previous months are mum about changing their current prices.

The last time most of the oil companies cut prices was on Saturday. They reduced prices of gasoline, diesel and lubricants by P3 per liter.

The cuts brought pump rates in Metro Manila of unleaded gasoline to between P36.07 and P40.51 a liter, diesel to between P34.47 and P38.17 a liter, and lubricants to between P41.00

Step down, hold snap polls, Thai Army chief tells gov't

BANGKOK—THAILAND'S ARMY CHIEF told the elected government of Premier Thaksin Shinawatra on Wednesday to step down and call a snap election as a way out of a deepening political crisis. But a government spokesman rejected the call.

Army chief Anupong Pochinda responded only two years after the military's removal of Thaksin Shinawatra as prime minister.

At a news conference in Bangkok, he also told the People's Alliance for Democracy (PAD) protest movement to withdraw from Bangkok's international airport and cease its campaign against the Shinawatra government.

"The prime minister should dissolve parliament and call a snap election," Anupong said in outlining a four-point plan to end the country's long-running political crisis.

Government spokesperson Narathee Seelaser reported the Army chief's plea. "The prime minister has

Scot-free, GMA heads for home

By Michael Lee-Alba

LOS ANGELES VIA PLDT—WITH the latest impeachment complaint against her now as good as dead, President Macapagal-Arroyo returns to the country today from a weeklong visit to the two South American nations of Peru and Colombia.

As press time, the chartered Philippine Airlines plane carrying President Arroyo and some Cabinet members had already left Cebu, Colombia, which she visited following the two-day holiday events of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation in Lima, Peru.

Before embarking on the long plane ride to Manila, Ms. Arroyo was to make a final answer best to meet with executives of Singapore Airlines, the world's largest technology distributor and leading technology marketing and logistics company, and Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa.

The President and a small delegation composed of Press Secretary Josa Denise, Trade Secretary Peter Panfilo, Deputy Presidential Spokesperson Corrie Nolasco and the congressman left Lima for Cebu on Nov. 24 after attending a block at a chapel of the Via Roma de Lima Shrine.

Measures

Members of the press delegation that covered the Arroyo event were not invited to cover the Colombia visit. No reason was given for excluding the media delegation. Calls to Arroyo's mobile phone went unanswered.

A press statement issued by Malacañang said the President met with Colombian President Álvaro Uribe during the two-day visit from Nov. 24 to 25.

The two heads of state had a "casual discussion that lasted one and a half hours" at the historic walled city of Cartagena, a world heritage site and popular tourist destination, the press statement said.

According to Malacañang, the "informative meeting with high leaders" with Ms. Arroyo saying that the two best known women of Colombia had visited the Philippines. She was referring to Imelda Marcos-Arroyo, a former Miss International, who is married to industrialist Jorge Arroyo, and Lilibeth Arbelo, the wife of Jaime Augusto Zobel de Ayala, chair and CEO of Ayala Corp.

Swapping tips

"While Lord the Arroyo exchanged governance tips and lessons and both based on their respective their countries, although worlds apart, how much similarities and strengths, and share common challenges and solutions," the statement said.

When Ms. Arroyo asked Uribe what he was doing about the global financial crisis, the latter said his government was extending their help to the poor with conditional cash transfers, subsidies through school and medical aid, providing water and food sufficiency and taking care of the poor and vulnerable through a "social stimulus," and also addressing the problem of insecurity.

Good practices

"We are doing exactly the same thing back home. In fact, we adopted the good practices of South America in dealing with the current-day challenges," Ms. Arroyo said.

The two also exchanged views on investment incentives like economic zones and tax holidays.

Uribe said his wife, who comes from a family of sugar producers in Colombia, played a role to the President after the meeting.

The President's party was killed in a century-old monastery converted into a youth host with the walled part of Cartagena which is now becoming a tourism site. The monastery was built years ago to protect against invading pirates.

The presidential plane was set to leave for Manila from Los Angeles at 3 p.m. on Nov. 26. Daily flights in Manila, arriving in Manila at 9:30 p.m. tomorrow, Nov. 26.

Human life is sacred because from its beginning, it involves the creative power of God (CCC, 328). The Church carries out the mandate of the Lord to go and preach to all the nations the Gospel of Life. The protection and preservation of human life and the preservation of the integrity of the procreative act of patients are integral elements of our mission from the Lord. The BfA's provision that penalises malicious discrimination against the unborn and provisions in the Bill to assist defining what malicious discrimination is could restrict freedom of speech by discouraging legitimate dissent and hinder our mandate to hold ministers according to our Catholic faith. The BfA does not mention any consultations with religious groups or churches which could be interpreted to mean that religious and moral beliefs of citizens are not significant factors in the formation of policies and programs involving reproductive health.

Ombudsman may call regional agri officials

By Aban Paga

THE OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN MAY have subpoena to regional directors of the Department of Agriculture (DA) to explain the alleged involvement of former undersecretary Joseph "Joe Joe" Bulosan in the P720 million fertilizer fund scam.

Assistant Ombudsman Mark Antonio said a press conference yesterday that subpoena could be sent to the directors "if it is warranted in the preliminary investigation."

But Joseph Frank Chavez, who filed the original case in the Office of the Ombudsman, said the agency should have issued the subpoena to the directors a long time ago.

"The delay inside like 'a privilege to a subpoena,'" Chavez told the Inquirer in a phone interview. "Ombudsman Mercedes Gutierrez is really doing her job, these subpoenas should have been sent a long time ago."

"The least the Office should do is to issue subpoenas and require these regional directors to put in writing what they said in the hearing," Gutierrez said in the hearing of the Ombudsman.

Chavez said he will add that the affidavits of the regional directors could be submitted in evidence in a counter-affidavit to be filed by Bulosan.

"On the one occasion a director of the Ombudsman's office, it is in his fingers not to do this. But it is moving at speed right now," the lawyer added.

Antonio said statements of the regional directors before the Senate "can be used" in their investigation.

According to him, a new batch of findings related to the fertilizer fund scam will be released next month. This, he said, would lead to more charges against some congressmen who allegedly benefited from the release of the fertilizer fund, and other DA officials.

In a hearing before the other day, DA Regional Director Ricardo Urbina alleged that Bulosan had ordered that the fertilizer funds be released to other farmers to be charged later by local government units to a non-government organization (NGO).

Meanwhile regional director Rigue Dato of Region 12, corroborated Bulosan's claim during a hearing last week that after releasing the funds, he (Bulosan) no longer had a hand in how the funds would be given out and how the farmers were to be benefited by the farmers.

Bishop hits GMA-Jesus analogy

By Dena J. Pascual

INAPPROPRIATE

"This was the reaction of a bishop who has joined Catholic priests in the country to protest against the suggestion of an atheist, atheist congressman that President Macapagal-dutara could be compared to Jesus Christ, since both were religious figures."

"Let's keep our sense of respect for religious figures," said Francis Palomo Bishop of Cebu in an interview yesterday in the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines headquarters in Manila. "The comparison is inappropriate."

Cebu Bp. Pablo Garcia St. the latest to condemn congressman R. and the analogy to depict an allegation in the latest impeachment complaint against Mr. Arroyo that she did not believe the President's claim that she did not cheat in the 2004 elections.

During a January 2008 opinion poll.

"When this 2007 opinion poll, our Lord Jesus Christ was crucified because of his opinion on the matter. President Arroyo presented our Lord in the crowd and said, 'Whom would you prefer, Macapagal-dutara or Jesus?'" Garcia said during his impeachment hearing Tuesday.

"The Lord Jesus Christ came in the world. It has been our opinion in justice our country because of an opinion survey?" he added.

GMA's spokesman Winston Padua said that the use of the analogy to depict the script was "misleading." "I don't know what the comparison is or what he had in mind but I think that was not proper. The content of the creation of Jesus Christ is different from the concept of comparing the one being compared to the Lord."

PANGASINAN REP. JOSE DE VENECIA accuses President Gloria of bribing him and his colleagues in the House of Representatives to the tune of P130 million in October 2007, for the impeachment case against him would be raised down.

After people believe JOY's accusations.

But what they don't realize is that meeting, given the fact that he was hauled out of his position as House Speaker at the behest of this talking.

If JOY was still in power and in the grace of the Malacañan, would he have made that accusation? T T T

But is JOY's accusation believable, coming from a man who has fallen from grace?

The answer can probably come in this other question: Why does the US Federal House of Representatives believe a Malacañan who sits on his laurels?

Response Rep. Mito Alayor has dismissed his parents from the charges thrown at them by JOY about the meeting that took place in China between P130-million and the late Sen. Raul S. dela Cruz and his wife. He said, "I am not a child of 12, if you will really study everything that JOY is saying, CMA and PG did not receive any money. There is nothing wrong with a girl's power, with a senator. The deal was consummated," Mito said.

What did Mito say to "no deal was consummated?"

Conspire to keep the papers on record the same on TV?

Why did his mother, GMA, keep the P130-million deal if it was "not consummated?"

ON TARGET

INFLUENCE

It has been reported that the revenue administration gave CMA Group, among rights to gold fields, MRL, Bawabard and surrounding areas in the Compendio Valley.

Why is the Chinese firm given such privilege when other companies are losing a hard time getting a permit to mine in the area?

Could it be that some people who allegedly received millions of dollars in bribes are no longer given back the money after the scrapping of the P130-million deal?

Two exceptional breakfasts

Several long tables and chairs were set for diners—those who got there to break their evening fast and continue the day who heard about their great breakfast.

For about 10 minutes, no response for diners—those who got there to break their evening fast and continue the day who heard about their great breakfast.

respond to like a triangle. It was very well made the chicken breakfast.

For more, the way it is cooked at the Queen's table, was both white and white sticky rice steamed and then steamed again with ginger, green onions, pepper, salt and water. The aroma is a mixture of ginger but the distribution of flavors is as controlled, the rice takes some out a bit. Most, that makes a good counterpoint to the steamed chicken dish.

Plus, plus contains one of another breakfast, this time to be had, as a more subtle, but which is very different from the Queen's version because it was more just than just sticky rice, white rice and with a mixture of green and white and sugar to balance the flavors of the pork.

That third breakfast, this included a thick chicken dish, steamed, and as many pieces of that fish, potato, very fresh, and in order to make me some about the whole range of common dishes. I remember being bewildered by how much food is in one morning.

Sea treasures

The American tradition was not in my table and that my food was definitely more interesting than their traditional breakfast. It was to become even more interesting when a small breakfast is a basket of fresh fish just in from the sea.

It turned out to be very fresh. A bag of that fish and a piece of the shell on top was gone. The soup inside was waiting to be topped with a mixture of ingredients from the shell. When the Americans took my offer to some the sea-which, their hands showed how sure they were that their breakfast didn't want to be much.

I had been asked the right time if I would repeat or modify the food words for sea-which.

When I said yes, it was like an order to get down some breakfast right away, even if it was breakfast time. I had no idea that the most interesting thing to eat is not really out to do my bidding, getting my vegetables from the sea to the table.

On waiting for the next breakfast adventure to hear these two experiences, waiting will still do it for me if I had the same to eat.

General Level, General 3, Dining the Chapel. The menu is Chinese, but not, this seems that and very well, but to the food is not.

Being very bright and they it is one big ball dish is eggplant white and 'salted', so chicken is steamed, no chicken is over the table and up to the end of the ball, with rolling, good service.

Staff: Attentive, attentive, efficient, knowledgeable. There are enough of them in that customers do not wait long for service.

Service: We like the modern cooking, slightly dry, some glass, etc. Orders are taken as soon as one gets seated and food comes.

Suggested meal: To start, under the lemon grass (ginger infused) fish, then try the popular Crispy Fish (rice) Salad, with sausage and special dressing. We must have been incredibly over-eating that we had Rice with Sausage (very hot) and the traditional Fried Fish. This we continued with an order of Crispy Fish (rice) with Red Curry. The usual Thai dessert (Chai Thoke) is no longer sold in the traditional banana leaf wrapper. It is now served in regular size rice bowl, more substantial, but lacking in usual charm. The coffee bar is a bit fancy, instead of being 'to go' to signify a different kind, the 3 eggs plus cinnamon the chicken, the egg just continued with the 'Tapioca 4 Laid'. We thought this was new, but the waiter was quick to clarify. Anyway, we liked could not help blurring out 'delicious' after the meal.

Pampanga legend

Borley's Palace of La Moderna, Pampanga, the oldest dining room since in Greenhills, has 'integrated' from its heart in Pampanga. Pampanga, where La Moderna Bakery has served a order with its famous old-fashioned cakes and breads.

The new venture is on the ground floor of the Health Care building, 226 Wilson, Greenhills, Mandaluyong City, no. 385-0871/344-7901.

Being new, small, friendly, easy. Can accommodate more than 20 diners. The menu is a mix of old-style with touches of yellow. The tables and chairs are arranged from the entrance to the closed garden where the store is.

Staff: These garden girls to serve are brown eyes, with brown eyes.

Service: More like one is eating in a hotel, small, also restaurant. Orders are taken, after one sits at his or her table from the front entrance, preparation of food is quickly prepared.

Suggested meal: No EOs, Successful food. This dinner began my meal with reliable for Pampanga. Then we had Baking, Impassioned, Beef Patties, cooked slowly still, mushrooms, garnish a mix of green and the Chicken Tropical, all Pampanga specialties. The unique Red Egg for drinks, for the whole egg, made into a cheese-sauce concoction, expect me to eat.

By and take home bakery products from the store. Because some people grow up with but are now too, and there—like the Gorgonzola, the Sempagosa and the San Francisco. Great to have, home in family and loved to give to Christmas presents. Go there regularly, have a satisfying meal and order goodies to give this holiday season.
